

A VERY SEXIST CONVERSATION

- a short film

Two men, DICK and RANDY, sort of jobbing entrepreneurial builders, are reclining on the grass at the top of a slight slope in the park. They are having a quick lunch-break, with cans of Stella and cheese-and-pickle rolls.

Two young women walk along at the bottom of the slope. The men eye them. The women notice with a very quick glance but immediately look away.

Dick turns to Randy.

DICK

I bin wondering -- You a tits man then,
or a legs man - would'y'say?

RANDY

I'd call meself a bum man I reckon.

DICK

Oh. Yeh. Tits, legs and bums - - -

Dick looks at the two women again, they are almost off the green by now. Randy nods slowly.

RANDY

A bum man, I'd say.

Dick looks back at Randy.

DICK

So - you have to get round the back, then.
If you're not there already. Like gone past.

He waves his hand in the direction of the receding women.

RANDY

Well, for the best view, know wha' I mean?

DICK

I mean, you can suss legs, sort of thing,
from in front, but not a bum.

RANDY

No, and tits of course goes without saying you have to be in front.

DICK

Or the side.

RANDY

I wouldn't be too sure. Depends how much to the side I s'pose.

DICK

And where the arm is, at that particular moment, in a manner of speaking.

(cont'd)

Randy nods.

RANDY

You a tits man, then?

DICK

Not really. Legs is where my eyes go first - generally speaking.

RANDY

But they stray a bit, do they?

DICK

Well, yeh, depends what catches the eye really.

They both look towards where the two women came from, but no other women are to be seen.

RANDY

Have to admit - my eye does stray to the legs. My eyes. Often.

DICK

But not the tits?

RANDY

Well, not if I'm viewing from the back. And if I'm at the front I'm too busy trying to get round to the back, or at least the side, y'know what I mean?

DICK

Don't you get an idea of whether you want to?

RANDY

Want to what?

DICK

Well, view the bum, in a manner of speaking. Before you do.

RANDY

I s'pose.

DICK

Otherwise, I mean, you might, er, suffer a disappointment, like.

RANDY

What, by the bum?

DICK

No. I mean, once you've got hooked by the bum and then find out, well, what she's like from in front.

(cont'd)

RANDY

I've suffered a few disappointments of that nature I'd say.

DICK

Frustrating.

RANDY

Well, any part can be frustrating.

DICK

Yeah, if we could just stay with the part we want.

RANDY

That'd be the day.

They drink from their cans.

©Thom Osborn 2006

I never made this. If anyone is interested then get in touch!